MOTION STABILIZER™

A great sleep experience starts with a firm foundation. Sealy's new Motion Stabilizer™ provides greater structural integrity than standard foundations and lasts longer in high-traffic hospitality environments.

Impact causes steel coils in standard foundations to lose their shape, but the elasticity of wood construction allows the Motion Stabilizer to bear greater weight without incurring damage. This foundation demonstrated its superior engineering when tested according to ASTM International's standards.

Compared to standard foundations, the Motion Stabilizer offers:

- A more stable and supportive feel
- Greater sway resistance
- Superior edge support
- Greater corner support
- Reduced noise
- Exceptional durability
- Environmentally friendly construction

This hospitality-specialized foundation provides guest-preferred firmness and durability needed for hotels.

THE SEALY DIFFERENCE

Features include:

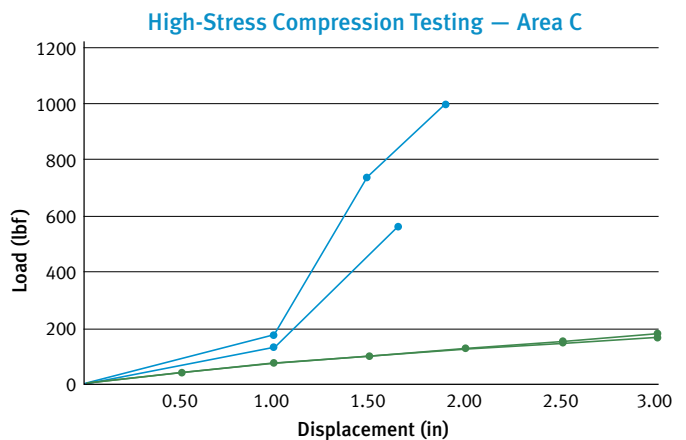

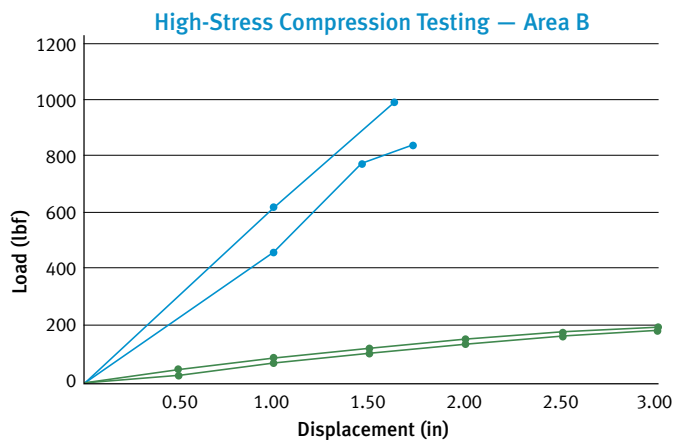

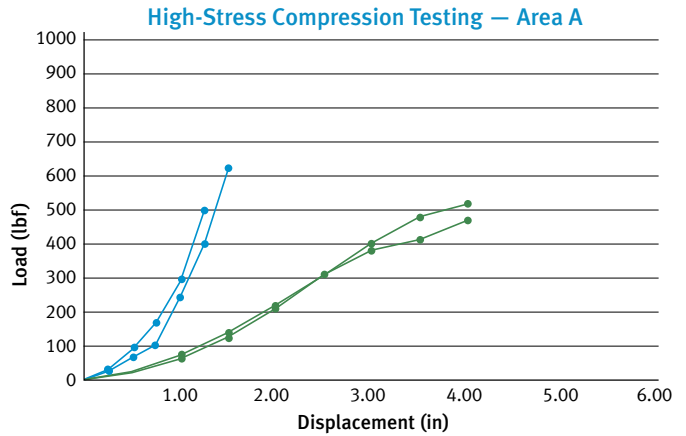

- The stable and supportive feel that most people prefer
- High sway resistance, providing 2½ times more stability than standard foundations
- Greater corner support to withstand extra weight commonly applied to corners of hotel beds (See Area A, below and at right)
- Superior edge support, up to 7½ times stronger than the six-gauge steel border wire found on most foundations (See Areas B and C, below and at right)
- Zero permanent set for withstanding stress
- Sturdy design to reduce noise
- Exceptional durability, minimizing wear and warranty claims
- Environmentally friendly construction
- Compatible with Universal Bedlegs and metal bed frames

Together, these features extend the life of the product and provide a better night's sleep — every night.
